

The local ISPs should have access to networks without discrimination of increased costs. As a consumer, I would like as many low cost choices as possible available to me - especially if this means that I can deal with a local ISP that pays attention to me.